

A real teacher

Who is a real teacher? This is a problem for nowadays because we do not have him. We have good teachers, bad teachers and interesting teachers but not real. So why we do not have him?

In my opinion we can say that real teacher and perfect teacher are the same.

Perfect teacher should be witty, wise, intelligent, well-read and educated. But this only one side of a medal. He also should be cheery disposition, respectable, skilled, neat, he should have balanced judgement and never be cross or cool.

Certainly it is not all characteristic. This characteristic do not have the main? It is a hard question but I think we can find an answer.

Let us imagine such a teacher. He will be very smart and students can easy take good marks. We have every reason to believe that he is a real teacher. But you will never call him real. So why?

Students should to be happy on his lessons, they should smile and laugh. Students should love this teacher and the teacher will be native for them.

And only now we can safely assume that teacher is a real. Because only love is important in our world.
